DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6, 13-15 and 20-21 are drawn to a hybrid polypeptide, a method for preparing the polypeptide and pharmaceutical composition comprising the polypeptide, classified in class 424, subclass 171.1.
 - II. Claims 7, 9 and 20-21 are drawn to a polynucleotide, transformed cell and pharmaceutical composition, classified in class 435, subclass 91.1.
 - III. Claim 22 is drawn to a method for treating an allergic disorder, classified in class 424, subclass 9.81.
 - IV. Claim^{any} 23-24 is drawn to a method for inducing a tolerance to a given allergen in class 435, subclass 344.1.
 - V. Claim 25 is drawn to a method for detecting antibodies, classified in class 436, subclass 513.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and any of III through V are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptide could be practiced with a materially different method of using. The materially different method can be using the polypeptide in a method for identifying the presence of a specific antigen. Therefore, the product and processes are distinct as claimed.

Inventions II and any of III through V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptide could be practiced with a materially different method of using. The materially different method practiced can be using the polynucleotide in a method of hybridization. Therefore, the product and processes are distinct as claimed.

Inventions III and any of IV through V are related as methods. The methods are distinct as claimed because they have different methods with different method steps; different functions and the effects have different final outcomes. Group III is drawn to a method for treating an allergic disorder while Group IV has a different function, inducing a tolerance to a given allergen, which is entirely different than treating an allergic disorder. None of the method of groups produces the same results. Each method produces different effects and different functions when compared to the other groups. Therefore, the inventions are unrelated.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
